ANGELICAN

LORD MAKE ME AN INSTRUMENT OF THY PEACE

PAULUS VI
PONT MAX UN
4 OCT., 1965

*"If we truly wish to be Christians,
We must love
Peace."*

He came to our nation bearing a message; he came to speak of a new hope for mankind—a new hope for a world in turmoil and distress. He begged for an end to war:

"Jamais la guerre!"—"Never again war!"

The world hungers for peace—personal peace, social peace, and peace of heart; so, too, does the Church.

Pope Paul, as John XXIII before him, has become a symbol to all nations of the unity among men for which they have sought so long; of the dedication and love which they need to attain peace.

In this spirit of unity—this spirit of brotherhood and love we dedicate this book to Pope Paul VI, the new "Apostle of Peace."

AWAKENINGS

"Peace I leave with you, my peace I give to you.
Not as the world gives do I give to you."

So take up this peace and make it
the legacy that it is;
In keeping it, put aside the banners which the world flays and calls 'peace.'
What it hides is the ravenous Self which wants other than the truth.

There is no method of which a man can say:
"Take this road—it leads to peace."
Neither senseless death nor groveling cowardice can gain for man his dream.
But blood will be in honor shed, while steadfast souls decry the way by which men choose to preserve what they cherish.

Yet much will be given with each moment of life:
A multitude of 'little things'
by a multitude of 'little people.'
And from them shall we see the roots of peace spring;
From the hearts that have nourished
with love the Seed.

The righteous servitude of peace
must be our only bond.
Our hands must fashion freely what our tools cannot.
The 'instrument of His Peace' can be but one—
One mind with the Father: One heart with Christ:
One Spirit Eternal.

The restless world is in turmoil and prevents the buds of Christian love from ripening. But we will awaken the world with our cry "Peace on earth, good will toward men" and the flowers of peace will bloom once more.

"Oh no, don't let the rain come down."

"Some Angelites barely make it to school."

"It's a wonder what Math IV can do for you. (40 nickles in a dollar . . .)"

"Two for me, one for you—Now let's beat it."

Remember?

The first day when we felt so scared and new . . . the hilarity of initiation—the feeling of belonging it brought . . . our first winter on campus . . . when we were adopted by our “big sisters” . . . the solemnity of our first retreat . . . how proud we were to give the ring day play for our big sisters.

MBER?

Remember?

Coming back to school with the realization that we were no longer "freshies" . . . playing host to Dad at the Father-Daughter Supper . . . serving tea to Mom . . . entertaining the faculty and student body with our Christmas play—"One Red Rose" . . . planting our pink dogwood on Arbor Day.

Remember?

Junior year—we finally were upperclassmen . . . adopting our own little sisters . . . the exhilaration of receiving our class rings . . . how proud we were to hear our little sisters sing our ring day song . . . contributing our share to saving the "Old Town Hall" . . . dancing in a "Misty" atmosphere at our first semi-formal . . . accepting the Daisy Chain at class night and the responsibility that came with it.

Remember?

The noise and friendship that came with Get Acquainted Day . . . the relief following our last midterms . . . the liveliness of Father Finan's marriage class . . . the late nights with the yearbook . . . our wild but successful Halloween party . . . the wetness of our car wash . . . the unforgettable enchantment of the Christmas Ball . . . thripping through the cherry blossoms in Washington, D.C. . . . the tears and joy of Class Night and the solemnity of graduation—the open door to a new and different life.

*From the classroom,
 Across the campus
 of changing seasons and elements,
 Summer, fall, winter, spring.
 Each bringing a new and different gift,
 Painting the ground and trees with new colors;
 Bringing the students closer to God.
 Summer, ushering in parched grass and empty walks,
 Autumn, carrying a message of changing
 life in the wind,*

Filling the halls and lawns with new voices;

*Winter, spreading a blanket of snow
over the land
and frosting the trees
with silver icing;*

*Spring, singing of rebirth and renewal
Sending another class of women into the world.
All carrying a message to the changing tides of students who walk the paths and fill the void
That God has made.*

There's nothing so relaxing as an afternoon tea.

"Cream and sugar?" Mrs. O'Hagan and Jane pour for juniors.

RETREAT-

We answer

the challenge

Confession is an essential part of a good retreat.

The priest and we fulfill Christ's desire that "Your sacrifice and mine may be holy and pleasing to God and to his Holy Church."

Retreat master, Father Cosmas Dimino, brings to us the Good News of the gospel of St. John during a Bible Vigil.

Freshmen participate in their first retreat by praying the scriptural rosary in common.

Preserving the dignity of Christian womanhood

The Paschal Candle, a gift to the school from the retreat master, who exhorted us "to give light as we dedicate ourselves."

In solemn procession, senior Angelites carry the gift offerings to the altar.

Such topics as marriage, divorce, "Is God dead?", steady dating, and phases of mortality are mulled over during group discussions at lunch time.

Moments to think—to search—to decide.

Rev. Perrault joins Junior class officers Maureen Formeister, Paulette Masse, Barbara Maiuri, and Jane O'Hagan at Ring Day breakfast.

Happy Ring Day. A beautifully decorated cake adds spice to an unforgettable day.

Time out from the more formal moments to relax in the sun.

Junior class president, Barbara Maiuri, places a bouquet before the altar of the Blessed Virgin.

The ribbon is cut, and a Junior receives her class ring.

A blessing by Father Perreault concludes the Ring Day ceremonies.

Jane O'Hagan proudly displays her new class ring to beaming parents and younger sister.

ARBOR DAY

"Forward . . . march!" Sophomores lead the way to plant their tree."

"Just a shovel full of dirt makes the tree grow—we hope!"

Hilarity reigns as Sophs eye each other in granny dresses.

"High Hopes" resounds through the auditorium as Seniors present Academy Award melodies.

F A C U L T Y D A Y

"Would you like to Swing on a Star?" Eight OLA seniors give a humorous interpretation: "... or would you rather be a mule?"

CROWNING

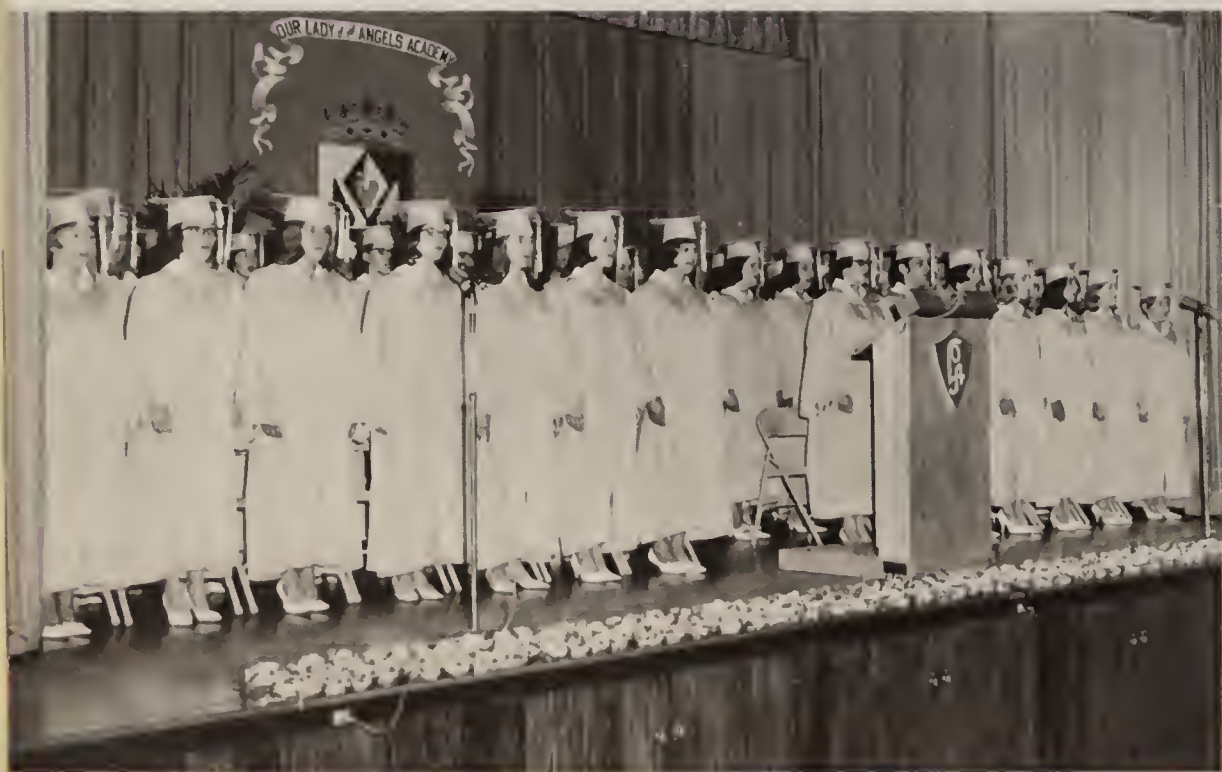

Barbara Wells and Cathy Malley, members of the Queen's court, admire the flowers beside the statue of Mary.

CLASS

GRADUATION

JUNE 12, 1966

Not an end, of course,
Nor a beginning, quite
Although we like to say Commencement
(To show we know much lies ahead)

But more a day, like all days
We own—
Some swift

Some long
They're all days of Becoming.

And yet a day to mark, of all
Those days—
A blue ribbon of a day; to tie up years

Like a neat packet of old love letters
Over now, but part of you Forever.

HONORS

"The spirit of man is not a science; we may know much and yet be devoid of spirit. Spirit is ardor, depth, conviction, joy of life, which penetrates and raises man above the natural and ephemeral.

Our society . . . is not just a collection of individual units . . . but a gathering of persons, each of whom has a personal destiny as well as a social role. Each person must be valued not because he belongs to a particular class, or church, or race, or nationality but simply because he is a man."

"Genuine success in life depends upon the achievement of personal satisfaction above and beyond the basic demands of society.

Often, our lives are too full of business for simple private pleasures. Besides, we tend to feel that simple joys are trivial and foolish—perhaps because they are ours alone and can't always be completely understood by someone else. But how hard do we really try to find the time? All we have to do is stand perfectly still for a minute and see the sharp beauty of this day, this hour."

One thousand years of service to God, Christ, and His Church.

966

POLAND'S

Millennium of Christianity!
A thousand years of prayer
And the profession of a faith in the living God!
A thousand years of dedicated and honest work
That embraced all the children of God.

This is the soul of Catholic Poland;
She sings praises unto her God.
Vibrations of her song stir the embers
of every Christian heart
And set it aflame to sing with her.

Jagiello, the Grand Duke of Lithuania, accepted Catholicism as the state religion, because of Hedwig, youthful and gracious—Rock of the Faith and Poland's valiant queen.

MILLENNIUM

Religion is the spirit of life; it pervades each day of living with its presence. For a whole nation to accept this spirit is indeed a significant blessing. Poland is such a nation. Her fidelity to God and the Church is an example to the rest of the Christian world. In an age when atheism sweeps across the universe and men scream out "God is dead!", the Polish people steadfastly hold to their faith. In this, their millennium year, the whole world pays tribute to their great courage and their staunch love for God.

Every hour on the hour the trumpeter would stand in the tower top, and turn very slowly—south, west, north, east—to play the Heynal.

The chorus, dressed in native costume: "What, O Lord, can we give you for the gifts we treasure? For your graces and blessings showered without measure? Our souls cannot enfold You, your presence everywhere—In heaven, on earth, in depths of space, You are ever there."
